		Taller N°3 Mayo 11 a Mayo 15
Buscamos trabajar las 4 habilidades y por ello el taller tiene cuatro momentos. Listening, speaking, reading and writing. El taller se desarrolla en INGLÉS
Listening time... (es una actividad individual por lo tanto no puedes tener las mismas respuestas que tus compañeros) A partir de este momento eres libre de escoger una producción en inglés de escucha que dure al menos 3 minutos (Canción, pedacito de una película, una noticia, una entrevista) Luego debes hacer un reporte de escucha. El reporte de escucha debe tener los siguientes elementos: Source: (fuente de donde lo sacaste/ bibliografía o http) Name of the listening: (nombre de lo que escucharon) Duration: (Duración de lo que escucharon o el tiempo desde y hasta donde lo escucharon) Subject: (tema de lo que escucharon) Resume: (una pequeña síntesis de lo que escucharon) New words: (Palabras nuevas que encontraron en el audio, mínimo 5) Words I already knew: (Palabras que reconocieron y que encontraron en el audio, mínimo 5)
Speaking- writing time: (sólo audio) Habla en voz alta en inglés y grabate durante 2 minutos. Habla de ti, tu nombre y dí lo que estas haciendo durante esta semana. Para ello debes hacer un script (guión) en el cuaderno. Los audios los van guardando para compartirlos con la docente una vez regresemos a clase.
Reading: (Retrieved from: https://www.amny.com/things-to-do/here-are-10-things-to-do-while-in-quarantine-this-weekend/) Here are 10 things to do while in quarantine this weekend- Alex Mitchell Spending the weekend at home isn't ideal, but this is a national emergency. No matter, there's a lot that can be done over the next few days to get yourself not only caught up but even ahead of life's responsibilities while having plenty of fun as well. Responsibilities: Get your taxes ready With no brunches to go to, games to watch, or really any public fun to be had, this is the perfect time to start wrapping up your taxes. Clean and get organized: This reporter will not indulge in the misnomer that "cleaning can be fun," however it is something that's necessary to do. Do ALL of your laundry, purge your home clean, and tidy up like there's no tomorrow. Exercise: Quarantine or not there's still plenty of ways to stay in good health. It might not be the same as your routine workout but there's plenty of options and workouts that are being streamed to do from home. Explore ways to save money: With no going out, no commutation costs, and many more ways to save a little bit of dough, now is the chance to go over your own finances to evaluate where you can save up during COVID-19 times Check in on those close to you: This is an obligation. Having strong mental health in times of seclusion is certainly as important as having good physical standing too. Call or Facetime your friends and family routinely, it will be much appreciated. Fun things to do: Video chat like you're in middle school again. Many of us remember the days of group video chats on weekday evenings back from our younger days. Who's to say you can't have a night like you're back in the seventh grade procrastinating your homework with your buddies? There's nothing wrong with having a little fun to get through a challenging time. Start a podcast: All you'll need is a phone and free online editing software. Start a quarantine confessional, go on a rant about the things that peeve you the most, or talk about the good in the world or how much we all miss sports! Keeping your mind sharp is important now. Do karaoke: Fortunately, nobody will be watching which should add a layer of encouragement for many. There's tons of free websites where you can not only belt out some high notes, but also have your friends join. Sing off the hard times. Redecorate: Let your creative side show and take an opportunity to make some fresh and new executive decisions for your living space. Move things around, play with your decor, give things a springy new feeling! ACTIVITY: Write about what did you do during the last week with details. Write about your own experiences according the list above (20 lines)
Debes organizar una carpeta con la solución de los talleres o trabajar los talleres en el cuadernos para ser socializados una vez nos encontremos de nuevo en el colegio.
